I. SILVER STAR. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved 9 July 1918 (Bulletin 43, WD, 1918), a Silver Star is awarded by the Commanding General, Far East Air Forces, to the following named officer:

First Lieutenant JAMES F. SCOTT, (0753250), Air Corps, United States Army. For gallantry in action in Amboina Bay on 22 October 1944. Lieutenant Scott was the pilot of a Catalina Flying Boat providing rescue cover for a light bombardment strike in the Coram area. After the fighter escort had been dismissed, he received a distress call from a pilot down in the bay. Though he knew that his airplane would be an easy target for enemy guns in the vicinity, he refused to wait for fighter protection to return, but proceeded immediately to effect the rescue. On approaching the distressed pilot an enemy fighter attacked, and heavy fire from shore guns hit his plane, but Lieutenant Scott ignored the fire and succeeded in rescuing the pilot. His gallantry and devotion to duty reflect the highest traditions of the United States Army Air Forces.

Home Address: Mrs. James F. Scott (Wife); 644 Melville St., Rochester, N. Y.

II. DISTINGUISHED-FLYING CROSS. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bulletin 8, WD, 1926), a Distinguished-Flying Cross is awarded by the Commanding General, Far East Air Forces, to the following named officers:

First Lieutenant WILFRID R. HENKEY, (0801871), Air Corps, United States Army. Pilot.
 Home Address: Mrs. Dolores J. Henkey (Wife), 2734 Hope St., Huntington Park, Calif.

First Lieutenant WILLIAM G. KEYWORTH, JR., (0692164), Air Corps, United States Army. Pilot.
 Home Address: Mrs. Cora E. Keyworth (Mother), 4012 Longfellow St., Hyattsville, Md.

First Lieutenant WALTER I. OLSON, (0801897), Air Corps,
United States Army. Pilot.
Home Address: Mrs. Myrtle Nubson (Sister), Greenbush, Minn.

First Lieutenant ALFRED P. OSTRANDER, (0692196), Air Corps,
United States Army. Pilot.
Home Address: Mr. Alfred C. Ostrander (Father), 332 Church St.,
Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

First Lieutenant SAM P. WALLIS, JR., (0805146), Air Corps,
United States Army. Pilot.
Home Address: Mrs. Mary C. Wallis (Wife), 4303 Marguerite, Tampa, Fla.

Captain RICHARD WILKINSON, (0798391), Air Corps, United States
Army. Pilot.
Home Address: Mrs. Maud Wilkinson (Mother), 7 Second St.,
Walden, N. Y.

The citation is as follows:

For extraordinary achievement while participating in an aerial flight over the Macassar Strait on 20 November 1944. These officers were members of a flight of eight P-38 type aircraft which flew on an extreme-range strafing mission against enemy shipping. Though fuel reserves were dangerously low and the return flight was to be over enemy-held territory, the fighters pressed the attack and made repeated strafing runs in the face of intense enemy anti-aircraft fire. They sank five merchant ships and damaged a number of other vessels. Two of the P-38's were damaged, but all returned to their base with fuel tanks practically empty and ammunition depleted. The outstanding courage and devotion to duty displayed by these officers are worthy of the highest commendation.

By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bulletin 8, WD, 1926), a Distinguished-Flying Cross is awarded by the Commanding General, Far East Air Forces, to the following named officers:

2089 First Lieutenant KENNETH N. HUNTER, (0739790), Air Corps,
United States Army. For extraordinary achievement while participating in an aerial flight off Jefman Island, on 4 September 1944. As pilot of a Navy PB7 type aircraft Lieutenant Hunter was directed to a fighter pilot down in the water within 1000 yards of enemy shore installations, and though his airplane was extremely vulnerable he proceeded to the indicated area. In the face of accurate anti-aircraft and machine-gun fire which held his plane, Lieutenant Hunter descended to the distressed pilot's raft and, while still in motion, effected the rescue. His outstanding courage, and devotion to duty are worthy of the highest commendation.

Captain RICHARD J. LOVE, (0803030), Air Corps, United States Army. For extraordinary achievement while participating in an aerial flight over the Macassar Strait on 20 November 1944. Captain Love was element leader in a flight of eight P-38 type aircraft which flew on an extreme-range strafing mission against enemy shipping off shore from Macassar. In the face of intense anti-aircraft fire he attacked and personally drew the fire of a defending enemy gun boat, thus permitting the other P-38's to hit the targets without serious damage to themselves. Although this action resulted in Captain Love's airplane being badly holed by hostile fire, it enabled the remaining members of the formation to sink five merchant ships and damage a number of other vessels. The outstanding courage and devotion to duty displayed by Captain Love are worthy of the highest commendation.
Home Address: Mrs. Hazel J. Love (Mother), 2100 George Ave., West Palm Beach, Fla.

III. DISTINGUISHED-FLYING CROSS - Posthumous Award. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bulletin 8, WD, 1926), a Distinguished Flying Cross is awarded posthumously by the Commanding General, Far East Air Forces, to the following named officer:

First Lieutenant ROBERT J. MORRIS, (0464173), Air Corps, United States Army. For extraordinary achievement while participating in an aerial flight over Macassar Strait on 20 November 1944. This officer was a member of a flight of eight P-38 type aircraft which flew on an extreme-range strafing mission against enemy shipping. Though fuel reserves were dangerously low and the return flight was to be over enemy-held territory, the fighters pressed the attack and made repeated strafing runs in the face of intense enemy anti-aircraft fire. They sank five merchant ships and damaged a number of other vessels. Two of the P-38's were damaged, but all returned to their base with fuel tanks practically empty and ammunition depleted. The outstanding courage and devotion to duty displayed by Lieutenant Morris are worthy of the highest commendation.
Next-of-Kin: Mrs. Dorcas D. Morris (Wife), 132 N. Lancaster St., Dallas, Tex.

IV. SOLDIER'S MEDAL. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved 2 July 1926 (Bulletin 8, WD, 1926), a Soldier's Medal is awarded by the Commanding General, Far East Air Forces, to the following named officers and enlisted men:

Second Lieutenant CLARENCE P. RICH, (0760913), Air Corps, United States Army. For heroism near Hialeah Island on 10 January 1945. Lieutenant Rich was co-pilot of a P-25 which crash-landed in the water. He and four other members of the crew had made their exit from the sinking bomber when they noticed that the pilot was lying inside, unconscious. Lieutenant Rich plunged into the cockpit, now rapidly filling with water, and with great difficulty succeeded in releasing the pilot's safety belt and bringing his head out into the air. When the crew members tried to bring the unconscious man into their raft, they found that his foot was still caught in the airplane. Lieutenant Rich went under water again and released the foot only to have the sinking aircraft drag the pilot's body down with it. Without regard to the great danger of being caught in the tangled wreckage, he clung to the body until the pressure of a depth of thirty feet forced him to abandon the rescue. The courage and devotion beyond the call of duty displayed by Lieutenant Rich reflect great credit upon himself and the Military Service.

Home Address: Mrs. Madeline J. Rich (Wife), 5331 H St., Sacramento, Calif.

Second Lieutenant HUBERT B. WALKER, JR., (0693578), Air Corps, United States Army. For heroism at Hialeah Island, on 23 September 1944. On hearing a cry for help, Lieutenant Walker rushed to the aid of a fellow officer who was drowning in the turbulent water off shore. Though badly cut when a huge wave threw him onto the sharp, jagged coral, Lieutenant Walker proceeded into the deep water and gained control of the frantically struggling man. With great effort and skill he negotiated the difficult waters and brought the helpless victim to safety. The heroism and disregard for personal safety displayed by Lieutenant Walker reflect great credit upon himself and the Military Service.

Home Address: Mr. Hubert B. Walker, Sr., (Father), Wagoner, Okla.

Corporal RULEN L. WAXMAN, (32324737), Air Corps, United States Army. For heroism near APO 159 on 23 December 1944. Corporal Waxman, watching infantrymen, loaded with full packs and field equipment, making practice assault landings on the beach, saw a landing craft overturn, causing three of the infantrymen to fall into the rough water. Seeing the men struggling desperately, Corporal Waxman immediately removed his clothing and went to the aid of the one who seemed to be having the most trouble. Due to the rough sea he had difficulty getting to the man and upon reaching him attempted to remove some of his clothing and equipment. Corporal Waxman then grasped the man by his hair and swam with him toward one of the boats sixty yards away. A number of times large waves almost engulfed the two men, but Corporal Waxman finally reached the boat where the man was put aboard. His heroism in risking his life to save the life of another soldier is worthy of commendation.

Home Address: Mrs. Goldie Texan (Wife), 1952 64th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
